

Civil Service Week '2015'

We celebrate the 23rd staging of Civil Service Week under the theme, 'Diligently and Relentlessly Pursuing Quality Public Services for Sustainable Development.'

As a civil service, we have much to celebrate. The civil service has contributed significantly to Jamaica being rated as among the top 10 most improved economies worldwide. We have seen significant improvements in public service delivery provided by several entities. However, it is recognised that much more work lies ahead of us. This is reflected in our HR Transformation Programme, and the wider Transformation Programme focused on Trade and Investment Facilitation, Managing Public Sector costs and Improving Efficiency and Customer Service Delivery.

The OSC salutes all Public Sector workers for their sterling contribution to national development. In particular, we extend congratulations to the 2015 Civil Servant of the Year, Miss Barbara Allen from the Ministry of Education.

We encourage full participation in this week's activities, as we celebrate the best of the Civil Service.

To the (left) is Mr. Sean Barrow, Civil Servant of the Year 2014 from Jamaica Customs Agency, (center) Dr. Lois Parkes, Chief Personnel Officer, Office of the Services Commissions, and to the (right), Miss Barbara Allen, Civil Servant of the Year 2015 from Ministry of Education.

